

5/22/09--Afternoon Session
(3:05:50 – 3:06:19)

So when you go to the exam and you find certain questions which were new to you, I would like to know what they are, so you can help the next class, because the previous class is helping you, so you're supposed to help the next class, if you can help them. Now, on the depression, the first one is . . .

5/23/09—Morning Session
(2:16:26 – 2:17:13)

Here the moral of the story is? Here, the moral of the story is – send me questions, okay. Make sure you send me questions after the exam. Just write ,e-mail me, how you did. I want to know how you did on the examination. At least tell me whether, after you take the exam, whether this course was at all helpful and if it was, how much helpful was it. If you can email me right after the exam, I would really appreciate it. [Inaudible].

5/23/09—Morning Session
(3:02:10 – 3:03:40)

I won't be there to tell you. Also I'll be outside [laughter]. What do you think I did? How do you think I collected all this? Not everybody sends the questions to me, so I go there. Every year, I make some friends who are going there, and I ask them to see what they're saying, okay, I'll help you now. You help me later. Help what? I'll give you some questions now, but then at the lunch time, meet me outside at my car [laughter]. So, he said what car do you drive? I tell him, a white Mercedes. Okay. So, I meet outside at lunch time and say, I have a free lunch for you [inaudible; laughter]. So I pick up sandwiches, one for me, one for him, and he comes in, sits in the car, I lock the car [laughter] and I put my tape recorder on. And now you start talking. While you're talking to me, eat your hamburger. Talk, as much as you can remember, you just saw whatever it is in the exam, give me all. And talk on this. I'm listening. You talk to the tape recorder. And he does. As long as he's there, he'll tell you all the questions, then I go home at night time and put down for you. Okay. So I'll be outside, when you're done there [laughter]. Now don't tell this technique to the board. Otherwise, they will stop me from coming there.

5/22/09--Afternoon Session
(3:05:50 – 3:06:19)

So when you go to the exam and you find certain questions which were new to you, I would like to know what they are, so you can help the next class, because the previous class is helping you, so you're supposed to help the next class, if you can help them. Now, on the depression, the first one is . . .

5/23/09—Morning Session
(2:16:26 – 2:17:13)

Here the moral of the story is? Here, the moral of the story is – send me questions, okay. Make sure you send me questions after the exam. Just write ,e-mail me, how you did. I want to know how you did on the examination. At least tell me whether, after you take the exam, whether this course was at all helpful and if it was, how much helpful was it. If you can email me right after the exam, I would really appreciate it. [Inaudible].

5/23/09—Morning Session
(3:02:10 – 3:03:40)

I won't be there to tell you. Also I'll be outside [laughter]. What do you think I did? How do you think I collected all this? Not everybody sends the questions to me, so I go there. Every year, I make some friends who are going there, and I ask them to see what they're saying, okay, I'll help you now. You help me later. Help what? I'll give you some questions now, but then at the lunch time, meet me outside at my car [laughter]. So, he said what car do you drive? I tell him, a white Mercedes. Okay. So, I meet outside at lunch time and say, I have a free lunch for you [inaudible; laughter]. So I pick up sandwiches, one for me, one for him, and he comes in, sits in the car, I lock the car [laughter] and I put my tape recorder on. And now you start talking. While you're talking to me, eat your hamburger. Talk, as much as you can remember, you just saw whatever it is in the exam, give me all. And talk on this. I'm listening. You talk to the tape recorder. And he does. As long as he's there, he'll tell you all the questions, then I go home at night time and put down for you. Okay. So I'll be outside, when you're done there [laughter]. Now don't tell this technique to the board. Otherwise, they will stop me from coming there.